BRYAN'S TRIP ENDED

Will Reach His Home at Lincoln This Afternoon.

SILVER PARTY NOTIFICATION TO-NIGHT

Left for Nebraska Immediately at the Conclusion of His Speech at the Labor Day Picnic in Chicago Last Night.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The celebration of Labor Day by Chicago's workingmen centered mainly in the meeting addressed by William J. Bryan at Sharpshooter's park, a wooded pleasure ground situated at an inconvenient distance from the city. The day was all that could be desired in point of weather. Mr. Bryan spoke from a permanent platform with a shell-shaped canopy, and long before the meeting began it was crowded with prominent members of labor unions, a number of them accompanied by their families. The crowd began to gather about noon, and those who came early sought positions close to the front of the stand. Many men and boys climbed trees overlooking the platform and were able to see and hear the better from their exalted positions. Occassionally the limb of a tree broke and added to the fun and excitement of the occasion. Other men climbed to the roof of the stand and lying flat on their stomachs peered over the edge on those below like so many human squirrels. The crowd was not as great as had been expected by the promoters of the event. Just before Mr. Bryan entered the park about 6,000 people were clustered around the central point of interest, but after the appearance of the nominee three or four thousand more entered the grounds and waited to catch a glimpse of the speaker or stood on the outskirts of the audience endeavoring to hear what he said. The charge of 25 cents for admission probably served to decrease the attendance. This has always been the custom at the Labor Day celebrations in Sharpshooters' park, but Mr. Bryan did not know of it or he would have declined to speak unless with the assurance that no entrance fee would be charged. Immediately after he had concluded Mr. Bryan resumed his journey west. He will reach Lincoln, Neb., this afternoon and will be notified of his nomination by the silver party in the evening.

WINE AT COMMUNION.

The Raines Law Not Intended to Effect Any Church Service.

Albany, Sept. 8.—Deputy State Excise Commissioner Clement has just answered an interesting communication from the district attorney of one of the counties of the state. The district attorney had written to the department that certain complaints had been made to him as the prosecuting officer of the county that all of the churches of a certain city in the county had been using fermented wine at communion service, as the complainant alleged, contrary to the provisions of the Raines law. They had asked the district attorney therefor to bring the matter before the grand jury, but he wanted light on the subject from the state excise department. His own opinion was that a church must be considered in the nature of a club, and was, therefore, exempt from the license provisions of the law. In his reply to the inquiry, Deputy Commissioner Clement points out the absurdity of the claims raised against the churches in question, and holds that the legislature had no intention of making the law effective as to communion services in churches.

CRASHED INTO THE DOCK.

Three People Seriously Injured and a Ferryboat Damaged at Jersey City.

New York, Sept. 8.—Last evening the ferryboat John G. McCullough of the Erie Railway line, while entering her slip on the Jersey City side, became unmanageable and crashed into the dock with great violence. As it was a holiday, the passengers were few in number, which was a fortunate circumstance. The boat broke down the dock bridge and had her guard rails shattered. Nicholas Wiss of Jersey City had his legs smashed; Elsie Hoffman, a child, of Paterson, was badly injured, and an unknown man was badly hurt about the head. All three were taken out of the debris in an unconscious condition and removed to hospitals. It is thought that Wiss and the Hoffman girl will recover.

TOO LENIENT.

Officers Constituting a Recent Court-Martial in Texas Reprimanded.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Gen. Bliss, commanding the department of Texas, in special orders just received at the war department, severely reprimands the officers constituting the court-martial which recently tried a private at Fort Bliss and found him guilty of lying to his commanding officer, furnishing money to a soldier whom he knew was about to desert by buying certain articles of clothing from him, and failing to report to the proper authority the intended desertion of a fellow soldier of which he was aware, in violation of the articles of war. He was sentenced to forfeit $15 of his pay, the court adding that it was "thus lenient" on account of the previous good character and short service of the accused." Gen. Bliss endorsed the case as approved, in order that the culprit might not escape all punishment, but he strongly characterized the sentence as inadequate and called attention to the fact that the duty of the court was to proportion the punishment to the offense, and then, if it saw fit, to make a recommendation for clemency for the reasons stated.

DUE ONLY TO THEIR CONDITION.

Sir Matthew Ridley Tells Why the Irish Prisoners Were Released.

London, Sept. 8.—The adverse comments by leading unionists, including the Marquis of Londonderry, on the action of the government in releasing Daly, Gallagher and other Irishmen, who were sentenced to life imprisonment for treason-felony, have called forth a letter from Sir Matthew White Ridley, the home secretary, in which he declares that the release of the prisoners was due solely to the medical reports submitted to him regarding their condition.

Attacked by the Thunderer.

London, Sept. 8.—The Times to-day attacks the letter of the home secretary, and demands that he publish the medical reports on which he says the release of the prisoners was based. The paper declares that even if the men were mentally affected they ought to have been detained as criminal lunatics.

Dr. Gallagher Taken to an Asylum.

New York, Sept. 8.—Dr. Thomas Gallagher, the Irish-American, who arrived in this city on Friday last from England, was transferred last night from the Hotel Savoy to the sanitarium at Amityville, L. I., known as "The Long Island Home."

Rich Men Violate Fish Law.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—The warden of the Provincial Fish and Game club yesterday caught four wealthy residents of New York on a train from St. Faustin to Montreal with 400 pounds of fish taken in Lake Bullrush, St. Faustin. They had no fishing license, and the warden took one of them, Capt. Hugh R. Carden of New York, in custody. He furnished security and was released pending an inquiry. The captain then left for New York. He is reputed to be a millionaire and a member of a number of New York swell clubs.

Too Expensive To Operate.

Rockville, Conn., Sept. 8.—Officers of the Rockville and Ellington Street Railway company announce that they will not build an electric railroad from Rockville to Talcottville through Vernon Centre, as the route is not feasible and is too costly to operate. The company will build only over the Burke Hill route. A local company will now be organized to build through Vernon Centre. It is claimed that $100,000 of local capital is already pledged.

Smithsonian Institute Fifty Years Old.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of the Smithsonian institute and the first time in fifty years that there has been no annual meeting of the board of regents. The omission was due to the absence from the United States of Secretary Langley and the death Sunday evening of Dr. George Brown Goode, the acting executive officer of this greatest of scientific establishments in the United States.

Bicycle Hill-Climbing Contest.

Orange, N. J., Sept. 8.—The bicycle hill-climbing contest under the auspices of the Manhattan Athletic club of New York city, which took place yesterday on Eagle Rock hill, was won by A. Michael of the Iroquois wheelmen, time, 4 minutes, 53 seconds. Thomas Duan of the Yonkers Bicycle club, second, time, 5 minutes, 8 seconds, and Warren Lyon of Montclair, third, in 5 minutes, 14 seconds. There were twenty starters.

Judge Griffith says that after January 1 he will devote himself entirely to his legal practice. The judge says he has not seen Senator Murphy for a year and has not had communication with him either directly or indirectly relative to the nomination.

Time of the Transcontinental Relay Bicycle Race.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO NEW YORK

The Pouch with the Message Enclosed Delivered to the New York Postmaster Last Evening—Final Dash in the Long and Plucky Race.

New York, Sept. 8.—The transcontinental bicycle relay race, which began in San Francisco at noon on Aug. 25, ended in front of the Journal office on Park row in this city at 3:20:04 1-3 yesterday afternoon. The actual time of the race was 13 days, 25 minutes, 4 1-5 seconds. The pouch which has come across the country contained two letters, one addressed to Postmaster Dayton from the postoffice department in San Francisco, and the other from Col. Schafer, addressed to the major-general in command of the department of the east at Governor's island. S. F. Boffinger received the pouch at Yonkers at 2:23 p. m. and immediately started for Kingsbridge, accompanied by several local riders. At Kingsbridge Fred J. Titus of the Riverside wheelmen, who holds the ten-mile record, received the pouch and, together with O. S. Brandt of the same club, started the last relay of the race. Coming through Kingsbridge they were accompanied by 100 cyclists, while Messrs. Muller and Saunderson, on a tandem geared to 123, started to pace the riders. They had not gone far, however, when the two relay riders left them in the rear. At Washington bridge Brandt's wheel broke down, and he was compelled to borrow one from a member of the party. The route through the city was from Washington bridge down St. Nicholas avenue to the Boulevard, to 72d street, down Broadway to City Hall park and over to the Journal office. All along the line crowds of wheelmen were waiting for the riders to pass, and joined in the party that followed, but they were soon distanced, and when the two riders reached their destination there were only seven followers. On the stand erected at the finish were Postmaster Dayton, A. R. Grant, who had charge of the race and started the first rider at San Francisco, and W. R. Hearst, proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner and New York Journal. The pouch was opened by Postmaster Dayton, while the crowd in front of the stand shouted and cheered. The letter addressed to him was found in a linen envelope which was covered with signatures and postmarks of the postmasters of the cities through which the pouch was carried. The postmaster opened the letter and found that it contained a formal announcement of the rider leaving San Francisco for the purpose of establishing a record. The letter for Governor's island was delivered this morning at 8 o'clock.

HER SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

Grand Celebration and Parade at Manchester, N. H., Yesterday.

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 8.—The city celebrated the semi-centennial of its existence in a royal manner. A feature was the magnificent parade of military and civic bodies, the procession being five miles long with nearly 10,000 men in line. The city was never so beautifully decorated, the principal business streets being a mass of color. Many visiting organizations and crowds of people from all portions of the state were in the city. At the conclusion of the march the grand lodge of Masons accompanied by delegations from the commanderies was escorted to Oak Hill where the corner stone of an observatory to be erected, as provided in the will of the late ex-Gov. James A. Watson, was laid by the grand officers, most worshipful grand master Henry A. Marsh of Nashua officiating. At 4 o'clock Trinity Commandery of this city tendered all the visiting commanderies a banquet in a mammoth tent, plates being laid for 1,200.

Victim of Hiccoughs.

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 8.—Irene Kaheler, aged 15, of High street, this city, has been a victim of the hiccoughs since July 25. She is at the Waterbury hospital and suffers continually from the paroxysms except when asleep. Physicians have unsuccessfully tried every known remedy. The girl is unable to take food except with the assistance of a stomach pump.

Leader of Dervishes Dead.

Rome, Sept. 8.—The Tribuna publishes a dispatch from Kassala, the town on the edge of the Soudan held by the Italians, announcing the death of the Khalifa, the successor of the Mandi and the leader of the dervishes, against whom the Anglo-Saxon expedition is now operating. Beyond stating that the Khalifa died at Boga the dispatch gives no details.

British Imports and Exports.

London, Sept. 8.—The board of trade returns for August show that imports decreased £2,110,000 and exports decreased £180,000 during the month, as compared with the corresponding month of 1895.

ARKANSAS ELECTION

Returns So Far Indicate a Republican Vote of 160,000.

A GAIN OVER '94 OF ABOUT 24,000

Democrats Claim the Election of Col. Jones for Governor by 45,000 Plurality—Efforts of the Temperance People Defeated.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 7.—The election held in Arkansas yesterday was for all state, judicial and county offices, including two-thirds of the legislature which will elect a successor to senator James K. Jones, chairman of the democratic national committee. He has no opposition within his party and his re-election is an assured fact. Returns show that an unusually large vote was polled. The question of licensing saloons was the principal issue in the majority of the counties. Here in Little Rock it was the issue of the day. The prohibitionists or anti-license advocates were defeated. Democrats and republicans had full tickets in the field, while the populists and prohibitionists nominated candidates for governor only. Returns received in this city up to 11 o'clock this morning indicate that the republican vote will exceed 160,000, an increase of 24,000 over 1894. At democratic headquarters the election of Col. Daniel W. Jones the democratic candidate for governor is claimed by 45,000 plurality. Chairman Cooper of the republican committee does not concede the claim, basing his estimates upon reports received late last evening. He says a large percentage of the increased vote was polled by negroes. Of the 203,000 poll tax receipts in this state, 45,000 are held by negroes, 15,000 more than were paid by the negroes two years ago.

Estimate 60,000 Majority for Jones.

Majorities shown for the democrats from official returns so far received if kept up throughout the state will give Jones and the democratic ticket about 60,000 majority. The republicans had a mixed ticket in the field, the opposition being an independent ticket composed of men, a majority of whom are but little known in politics. The populists scratched Files, their candidate for governor, and voted solidly for Jones, as did many of the sound money democrats, who voted at all.

ARMY AND NAVY VETERANS.

About 600 Present at the Annual Convention in Philadelphia.

New York, Sept. 8.—The United States Regular Army and Navy veterans met here yesterday in annual convention. The following commands were present: Gen. John M. Schofield, Philadelphia; Gen. W. S. Thomas, Wilmington, Del.; Gen. David Gregg, Harrisburg, Pa.; Gen. Philip Kearney, Newark, N. J., and Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, New York city. There were about 600 present. The principal business of the convention was to urge on the United States and the different state and municipal governments the fairness of placing the regular army and naval veterans on an equality with the veterans of the late war. Resolutions looking to this end were adopted, and a committee appointed to carry them into effect.

It was also stated that Mr. Cook would go to the university of Pennsylvania.

WINNING IN FAVOR.

Labor Day Coming To Rank Among Our Big Holidays.

New York, Sept. 8.—That Labor Day is coming to rank with the other four great popular holidays in point of popular interest, the demonstrations in this city yesterday attested, and dispatches from all parts of the country show that the day was more generally observed than at any time heretofore. In this city business was generally suspended, banks closed, and besides the big parades the day was given up to out-door sports.

Pleasant Day at Hartford.

Hartford, Sept. 8.—Labor Day was observed here as general holday, beautiful weather adding to the day's general observances. All business was suspended in the building and manufacturing trades, the banks and insurance offices were closed and the retail stores closed at noon. Sixteen organizations participated in the parade. There were about 2,000 men in line, which was reviewed by Mayor Preston and the city government.

Generally Observed at Boston.

Philadelphia Celebrated.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—Although Saturday was the legal Labor Day in this state, the National Labor Day was observed here, exchanges, banks, etc., being closed. Three thousand members of trades unions headed by a contingent of the socialistic labor party paraded. They marched to a local park where Frank Gessner of Pittsburg and others made address.

Watson Speaks at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 8.—Tom Watson of Georgia addressed 5,000 persons at the Labor Day celebration at the state fair grounds. He devoted most of his time to personal attacks on Mr. Sewall, the democratic candidate for vice-president. He declared that he would not retire from the race in Sewall's favor. "If Bryan wins," he said, "it must be as Bryan and Watson. If Bryan is defeated he can blame Sewall."

Big Parades at Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The parade of the labor organizations here in celebration of Labor Day was the greatest in the history of organized labor in this country. There were several thousand men in line.

Labor Day at Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Labor Day was observed here as a legal holiday. The weather was pleasant. The workingmen's societies met on the Champ de Mars and then paraded through the principal streets to the east end of the city to the exhibition grounds, where a whole round of sports, speech making, dancing, etc., was gone through.

PROBABLY FATALLY BURNED.

Three Men Surrounded by Blazing Sawdust in a Mill at Worcester.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 8.—John Scanlon, James Shea and James Daly, employed at the Rice & Griffin sash and blind shop in this city, were badly and perhaps fatally burned yesterday afternoon by blazing sawdust. Scanlon and Daly were shovelling the tinder like material into the furnace in the boiler room and Shea was in a small box-like room on the fourth floor shovelling the dust down a shute to the men below. A back draught caused the ignition of the sawdust as the men were shovelling it, and quick as flash they were surrounded with flames. Almost as suddenly the blaze flashed up the shute, so that Shea at the top was as badly burned as the men below. The fire department was called out and the fire in the building was extinguished. The three injured men are now at the city hospital.

A Child Convict.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 7.—The youngest and smallest convict ever received at Jackson is Hattie Relcord, a Holly Springs negress, 9 years of age, who arrived at the penitentiary last night. She was nursing for her sister and had charge of two babies. The elder, 2 years old, kept crying, when Hattie picked up an axe and split its head open. She is utterly indifferent and does not seem to appreciate her situation.

St. Lawrence Fishing Season a Failure.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The department of marine has received information to the effect that the fishing season along the north shore of the St. Lawrence has been almost a total failure. This will entail unprecedented distress among the fishing population.

M'KINLEY VERY BUSY

Endeavoring To Catch Up with Accumulated Correspondence.

TWO WEEKS BEHIND IN THE WORK

Sept. 11 the Date Fixed for the Visit of Gov. Bushnell and Staff—Thomas B. Reed To Be Asked To Speak at Canton.

Canton, O., Sept. 8.—Maj. McKinley was working quietly at home this morning. He is trying to catch up with his correspondence, but finds it a matter of grave difficulty, as he is two weeks behind with some of it, owing to the great demand made on his time by callers. Word has been received fixing September 11 as the date for the call of Gov. Bushnell and staff on Major McKinley. Gov. Bushnell has not yet called on the nominee and the event is looked forward to with some interest by Ohio politicians. Following the big republican meeting, which is advertised here for the 18th inst., will probably be two other large meetings, at one of which it is proposed to ask Hon. Thomas B. Reed of Maine to speak.

Delegations Expected.

Several delegations asked for dates in this morning's mail. Among those expecting to come to Canton soon is another large delegation of women from Cleveland. Major McKinley had a number of callers last evening. Among them were J. G. Johnson of Montana, Representative S. B. Harris of Ohio, Col. Fisher of Denver, Wilbur F. Wakeman of New York, Col. R. B. Brown of Zanesville and Hon. J. M. Ickes of Newark, Ohio. The Republican club of Oil City, Pa., has telegraphed that they will be here to call on Major McKinley Sept. 24. A number of Ohio editors arrived last night to attend the meeting of the State Editorial association. Major McKinley will address the editors this afternoon.

PLOT TO BREAK JAIL.

A Revolver and Saws Found in the Cells of the Murderers of a Girl.

Cincinnati, Sept. 8.—A negro prisoner named Walker was searched Sunday night by a turnkey in the Covington jail and a thirty-eight calibre revolver was found in his pocket. Walker occupied a cell adjoining the ones in which Jackson and Walling, the Pearl Bryan murderers, are confined. The jailor suspected a plot to break jail and yesterday ordered the cells searched. In Walling's cell half a dozen saws were found. Both Jackson and Walling protest their innocence, but the jail officials think the plot was to have been carried out early some morning, when only two men would be on guard. A search of Jackson's cell to-day disclosed two fine steel saws hidden between the sole and lining of an extra pair of tan shoes which belonged to the prisoner. The revolver found in Walker's pocket was positively identified as one owned by Walling before his arrest. A rigid investigation will be made as to how it got into Walker's possession.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS REVOLT.

Rebels, 1,000 Strong, Enter a Capital and Take the Governor Prisoner.

Madrid, Sept. 8.—A dispatch to the Imparcial from Hong Kong says that 1,000 rebels entered the town of San Isidro, capital of the province of Nueva Ecija, island of Luzon, the principal island of the Philippine group, and took prisoners the governor, his secretary, and a priest. The rebels were led by Santollano, a half-breed. The election for members of the councils-general of Madrid and the other provinces, which were held Sunday, resulted in most cases in the success of the government candidates. In Barcelona the election resulted in a riot, during which the voting urns were smashed. Knives and revolvers were used by the rioters, and three persons were seriously wounded.

Camden's New Armory.

Camden, N. J., Sept. 8.—Gov. Griggs yesterday afternoon laid the corner stone of the new Sixth regiment armory in this city. He was accompanied by his staff and several department officers. The governor laid the stone with an engraved silver trowel. His address was brief. He referred to the necessity and value of the national guard and paid a compliment to the Sixth regiment. The armory will be ready for occupancy by May 1 next. The state appropriated $148,000 for the building, and $15,000 additional will be required to furnish it.

Mrs. Maybrick Critically Ill.

BILLY M'CABE'S MOTOR.

BY LUKE SHARP.

Greatly to the disappointment of everybody interested in rapid road locomotion, the house of commons failed to pass the motor car bill. Many companies had been organized in England for the making of road locomotives, and people now wondered what was to become of these organizations, which were, as a usual thing, largely over capitalized. It was said that the commons would be sure to pass the bill next session, but the same remark had been made the session before.

It was at this period that the eyes of the world became gradually turned on Billy McCabe, who was at first called the English Edison, but after awhile people began to term Edison the American McCabe, which went to show that Billy was getting on in the world. Nobody was so much disappointed at the inaction of the house of commons as Billy, and it is doubtful if anyone used more reprehensible language on the subject than he did. Billy was not the man to sit calmly under this injustice, and he held, quite truly, that it was ridiculous that a country like England should have a law compelling a motor car to go at four miles an hour, preceded by a tired-looking man with a red flag. Billy had invented a motor car himself on an entirely new principle, and he had been waiting patiently for the house of commons to pass its motor car enactment so that he might float his company and compete with the other organizations already in the field, for the patronage of those who wished to run along the country roads as swiftly as if they were in a railway train. Billy's car differed from all others then in the market. It was extremely light, being made of a composition of steel and aluminum or something of that sort. It did not depend for its motive power on either electricity or petroleum. It was simplicity itself. In a strong reservoir it generated the new acetylene gas, which is easily made by dropping a lozenge of carbine of calcium into a little water. Not being a practical chemist, I am a little uncertain whether the substance is carbine of calcium; it may be carbine of sodium; but anyhow it is carbine of something, and this substance can be made into little tablets which, when dissolved in water, produce the acetylene gas. There was a strong reservoir holding some water, into which was dropped automatically lozenge after lozenge as the gas generated was used in the engine, and so pumped off into the empty air. Billy had a good deal of trouble at first with his motor car, because he insisted on smoking while running it, and the acetylene gas being tremendously explosive, Billy found himself blown into the next county on frequent occasions, so he was compelled to give up the use of tobacco while riding on his car. He thought at first of calling it the anti-tobacco motor and floating it as a company which would reform smokers, but finally he hit on an invention which allowed a man to smoke in comfort while he sat on the car. He concocted an arrangement by which the discharged gas having done its work, passed through a box containing a soapy mixture so that the gas came off in great bubbles and floated along by the roadside. This was the germ of his next marvelous warlike invention, by means of which the gas inclosed itself in little globules that shot off into the air, floating in space for awhile, and exploded with fearful force when the bubble touched a tree or the earth. This device, as everybody knows, has changed modern warfare completely, just as Billy's car has changed modern locomotion. Edison came out, immediately after Billy's discovery was announced, and claimed that he had invented the same thing 25 years ago, but Billy got his patents all right, and that is the main thing in a commercial and contentious world.

I was intimately acquainted with Billy, and beg to state here that it is not true, what historians have said, that McCabe set out deliberately with his motor to defy the great British empire. Nothing was farther from Billy's thoughts, he being a most peaceable citizen. He merely took out his motor to show the public how easily it might be guided through even crowded streets; but the law takes no account of good intentions, knowing perhaps to what purpose they are put in paving the lower regions. So Billy was caught by a constable out at Middlesex, and hauled before a magistrate. The magistrate would listen to no excuse. He said it might be a great invention, or it might not, but that he was defying the law by not having a man with a red flag in front of his motor. Billy explained that it was impossible to have the man there, because the motor was going at the rate of 40 miles an hour, and few men, unless they are in extremely good condition, can cover that distance in 60 minutes. The magistrate retorted that this made the case all the worse, for he was running at ten times the legal speed. Thereupon he fined Billy 40 shillings and costs and threatened to send the inventor to prison if ever he appeared before him again. Angry as Billy had been before, he now became wild. He said he didn't mind the 40 shillings fine, or even the costs, but the contemptuous language of the magistrate regarding his new motor car proved the last straw on the motor's aluminium back. Billy left the magistrate's presence without a stain on his character, but at the same time he swore loudly that he would let the British empire know what it was to run up against a full-bodied motor car that would go 40 miles an hour at ordinary speed or 80 miles if it was hurried. For two or three weeks nobody saw anything of Billy, and when he did come out they did not recognize his motor car.

Then began his celebrated excursion trips to Scotland, there and back for threepence. He started up through Middlesex by the same road on which he had been arrested before, and when the policemen endeavored to stop him they were compelled to get an ambulance and carry the officer to the nearest hospital. No one who had seen the motor car before would now have recognized it, for it was built like an iron clad, covered with triple-plated nickel steel of his own invention, through which no bullet could penetrate, and it was surmounted by a conning tower in which Billy himself sat and guided the machine. On approaching a town Billy would press a button and the machine would fire out acetylene bombs that simply paralized the whole neighborhood. People thought a cyclone was coming and took to the woods. Various ineffectual attempts were made to stop Billy in his breaking of the law, but he went clear through to the north of Scotland, shattering a few hills in the Highlands with his bombs, merely to let them know he was in the neighborhood.

When Billy had gotten as far north as the roads go he revictualed his machine, turned it round and started for the south again.

The telegraph, which was quicker than an acetylene motor car, warned the authorities of its approach, but even though the yeomanry were called out they could do absolutely nothing to stop Billy McCabe on his mad career.

The papers were now full of accounts of Billy day by day, and when he reached London there was a large and enthusiastic crowd awaiting him. A determined attempt was made by the London police to capture him, but Billy kept everybody at a respectable distance by playing a mild variety of acetylene bombs all round the neighborhood. While the crowd and the police were being amused in this way Billy seized the opportunity of collecting provisions for the return journey. McCabe's detractors have since alleged that he stole the necessities of life, but this is not true. He had to have food, and the bomb display caused the shopkeepers to be away from home at the time Billy called to replenish his traveling larder. So Billy started north again amidst general acclaim.

The liberal papers were making it hot for the government on Billy's account. They said he should be stopped at all risks. The prestige of the British empire was at stake. Here was a wild Highlander who set the law at defiance, as doubtless his ancestors had done before him, and here was a supine government with the largest majority of the century, yet they were as helpless as an infant in arms. The French papers said gleefully that here at last was an English revolution confronting a powerless government. In this they were partly right, but it was a mechanical revolution—80 miles an hour at that.

The authorities in Lancashire telegraphed to the home secretary and asked for instructions should Billy head for the coal mine district. The home secretary replied that they were to read the riot act to him, and then not hesitate to shoot. But Billy himself did the shooting. Before the sheriff, standing on a barrel beside the highway, got his mouth in shape for saying the first word of the justly-celebrated act McCabe shot by and was in the next county before the troops had time to draw breath, let alone a sword or a gun. There is little practical use in reading the riot act or even part of the latest novel to a man going 80 miles an hour.

Between Penrith and Carlisle they tried another plan, but it was equally unsuccessful. They mounted a thin policeman on the Derby winner of that year, kindly lent for the occasion, and gave him the riot act to read as he ran, but he lost sight of Billy in about ten seconds, and did not have breath enough left with the jolting to begin the reading even.

Billy reached the far north once more in safety, stocked up some more carbide of calcium, turned his ironclad toward the tropics again, and pushed the motor button. Telegraph messages announced that Billy was going to pass through the broadest part of Yorkshire this trip, and that noble county made a most creditable attempt to read the riot act to him; an attempt that would probably have succeeded if the county had been a bit wider. The sheriff placed a line of policemen down the road the motor car was to come and gave each officer a printed slip containing a few words of the riot act. The furthest north policeman had the first slip, the second the second, the third the third, the fourth the fourth, and so on, to the boundary of the southernmost part. Each policeman was instructed to shout at the top of his voice as the motor car went by, his part of the riot act, which never amounted to more than five words, but although the policemen did their duty and duly fired off their verbal feu de joie, Billy dashed through Yorkshire and so on to London again.

Here Mr. Chamberlain threw off his coat and said he would resign his position in the cabinet if this thing were not stopped. He mentioned with some feeling that old man Kruger had played a good deal with him some time before, but that this person McCabe was not to take that as a precedent and think that any Transvaal nonsense was to be tolerated on the free land of England. This move was received with great enthusiasm, and a cabinet meeting was held at which it was determined to capture McCabe at all costs. The minister of war then called out the British army, and by this time McCabe and his motor car were speeding on his third trip to Scotland. The British army was drawn across the island just on the London side of the Scottish border, the island being somewhat narrow at that point, and with fixed bayonets they waited for McCabe and his machine. It was about four o'clock in the afternoon when McCabe's ironclad motor appeared over the Scottish hills, and here for the first time the young man caught sight of the British army drawn up in line to stop him. He paused at the top of the hill and was seen to get out and oil his machine in sight of the British army massing along the road, and it seemed to Sir Garnet Wolseley that McCabe was foolish in allowing the troops to concentrate in this fashion. But Billy, on the top of the hill, merely lit his pipe, sat down on a milestone and calmly smoked his tobacco, taking care that there was no acetylene gas about. Hav-

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family remedy, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. It is now it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Kidney troubles are storms of life.

When the back aches the barometer is low.

Watch for it and weather the storm.

Here's a Middletown citizen that did it.

Mrs. E. Dorman, lives at No. 12 Cottage St., and she gives her testimony as follows: "It was only a backache at first, then severe acute pains. Urinary difficulty followed causing me to rise frequently during the night and to scald when urinating. A cold or overwork increased the pain. Sometimes my physicians ordered me to go to bed, at other times backache compelled me to and kept me there for three or four days. I have had no less than four physicians prescribe for me. One said it was womb trouble, another said female complaint, and still another kidney disorder. It did not make much difference what they pronounced the cause to be, all of them failed to cure me. I with very little faith in their efficacy obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. E. Mills' drug store. If I was sure that I would have no return of my trouble I could say I am radically cured for I have not a symptom of my own trouble, but I have so often been disappointed by doctors' medicines that I have lost faith and confidence in any remedy. I have stopped taking Doan's Kidney Pills for I have no need for them. The pain has gone and I am improved in general health."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Sent by mail on receipt of price. For sale by all dealers.

MINE ACCIDENTS.

How Disasters in Coal Mines Are Brought About.

The Miners "Rob the Pillars" or Supports and Substitute Timbers Which Cannot Stand the Tremendous Strain.

It is time that the truth about these accidents in the anthracite mining regions should be told. Year after year they have been occurring with appalling regularity. The list of the dead and crippled, the widowed and the orphaned, grows from month to month, while the public, intent upon its own pursuits, learns but little about it until some frightful accident like that which lately plunged the town of Pittston into mourning concentrates attention upon it, and then there is a universal outcry. It is felt instinctively that there must be something wrong with the conditions under which the mining of coal is carried on when disasters of that kind can occur in a state which has wise laws regulating both the ventilation of mines and the conditions under which the coal itself can be taken out. But what is the evil and what the remedy? Common sense as well as common humanity prompts the discovery of the one and the application of the remedy.

The law under which the present system of inspection is carried on has worked many reforms. It has done away with many of the evils which operated so disasterously in the early days of anthracite mining. It has given to one of the hardest working classes of labor in the state comparatively pure air where previously no one could breathe any but vitiated atmosphere. It has done even more than this, important as this achievement has been. Under its provisions no shaft, slope or other mine can be worked without having at least two avenues of exit—the usual entrance and the air shaft, the latter for use in case of disaster in gangways near the mouth of the mine. Nor do its benefactions stop even here. Inspectors authorized by law to inforce the law's provisions are regularly appointed and paid to do nothing else. How, then, does it come that even after it is in operation there can be such a disaster as that which recently horrified every resident of Pennsylvania?

The answer to this question has already been hinted at in these columns. When a mine is opened all the coal in the veins is not taken out. Portions of it, which are called pillars, are left standing to support the tremendous weight of the ground above. As mining becomes more expensive, however, and the supply of coal dwindles, the owners frequently order the "robbing of the pillars"—that is, the removal of the natural supports which were originally left standing. They know from past experience that this is a dangerous proceeding. Thousands of victims lie in premature graves as the result of its adoption. But competition is fierce and to compete successfully some chances must be taken. So one by one the pillars come down, until few, if any, remain to support the mountains of earth above. Rough timbers placed at irregular distances apart are expected to uphold what in the wise provision of nature solid masses of coal had held in place—an absurd proposition upon its face. Once the mine starts to "work," as we have frequently seen, the number of the dead is to be reckoned usually by the number of men employed at the time the crash occurs.

So much for the primary cause. The secondary cause is that which grows out of a faulty system of inspection. The average cave-in does not occur in a day or a night. Nature, as if to display her kindness to those who have rudely pierced her heart, gives repeated warnings before she asserts her mastery. There are ominous sounds throughout the gangways and breasts. The timbers creak and groan under their increasing weight. The rats desert the dangerous places before the timbers give way altogether. These indications of the strain are often perceptible for weeks beforehand, and then the duty of the inspector is to intervene. If he performs his duty with an eye single to the purpose for which his office was created he will either compel the owner of the mine to make it safe or empty it of those whose lives are imperiled. If he is the creature of the operators, as some of the inspectors are said to be, he may be indifferent to the condition of the mines or willing that operations shall be carried on after they are unsafe. His reappointment depends upon his ability to please the owners of the mines, not the men whose lives he is supposed to guard. There are districts in the state in which the corporation operating the colleries dictate the nomination of every inspector.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic electors of the State of New York are requested to choose delegates and three alternates from each Assembly District to a State Convention to be held at Buffalo on Wednesday, Sept. 16th, 1896, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for [illegible] electors [illegible] who [illegible] may properly come before the Convention.
[illegible] HINKLEY, Chairman.

The latest prominent convert to the [illegible] is Jesse R. Grant, son of the late General Grant, who is [illegible]

[illegible]

Powell Clayton, of unsavory memory, who is this year a self appointed preserver of the national honor, attempts to break the force of the unprecedented Democratic victory in Arkansas by crying "fraud." And the goldite newspapers, although they know Clayton's reputation for unveracity, accept his bold statement as a proven fact and take up the cry. It deceives no one. Democratic Arkansas is more than an offset against Republican Vermont. Arkansas' big majority means that the solid South will not be broken this year.

BANNERS ON EVERY THIRD CORNER

How a Republican National Committeeman Was Made to Believe Middletown Was Solid for Free Silver.

Hon. and Mrs. W. F. Durbin, of Anderson, Ind., old friends of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Corwin, were their guests over Sunday at their pleasant home, Linden Place.

Mr. Durbin is Indiana's member of the Republican National Committee, and is also a member of the executive committee, and is naturally very much interested in politics. Having this fact in mind, Mr. Corwin when he met him at the Erie station took him to Linden Place by way of Fames street, so that he had a good look at the Bryan and Sewall banner, and then doubled around with him through West Main to Henry street, so that they passed the banner again, and [illegible] Mr. Durbin did not recognize it as the same one he had just passed, and jumped to the conclusion that the town was so enthusiastic for silver that Bryan banners [illegible] on every third corner.

BEFORE THE RECORDER

Two Penitent Husbands—A Three Cornered Fight.

—A young man was charged with beating his wife. The Recorder had scarcely begun his lecture when the man broke into tears, and this so touched the heart of his wife that she withdrew the charge and he was allowed to go.

—A young man who was arrested on the complaint of his father-in-law, on the charge of abusing his wife and her parents while drunk, became very penitent when he faced the Recorder, and on his promise to reform he was discharged.

—There was a fight on a stoop on Cottage avenue last night in which three men were engaged while two women looked on. Officer Wilson arrested two of the men and a newspaper man collared the third one. They were fined $2 each this morning. One of the women jumped on the newspaper man when he interfered and rolled off the stoop, sustaining injuries which may result in a law suit. One of the women accompanied her husband to the lock-up, and was so truculent that she had to be locked up also till she grew calmer.

ORANGE COUNTY VETERANS' REUNION

Second Annual Gathering Held Yesterday in Newburgh.

The second annual reunion of the Orange County Veterans' Association was held in Newburgh yesterday, and was a great success. Over 3,000 members of the Association were present, including many members of Gen. Lyon Post [illegible] members of the Woman's Relief Corps of Gen. Lyon Post [illegible]

Addresses were made by several speakers and the day was most pleasantly spent in renewing old friendships and talking over incidents of war times.

The following officers were elected:

President—William Hamilton, Newburgh.

Vice President—D. H. Kelly, Jr., Middletown.

Secretary—A. P. Wheeler, Middletown.

Treasurer—J. B. Leemon.

Puzzler—J. D. Adams.

A Vice President for each of the thirteen Grand Army Posts in the county is to be appointed by the Commander of each post.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Opened To-day With a Very Large Attendance—Many Out of Town Pupils.

The public schools of this city opened to-day with a very large attendance in all departments, especially in the primary rooms, all of which were overcrowded. The pressure on the Benton avenue and Bennett Hill schools is especially marked. An unusual number of pupils from out of town made application to enter the Academy.

All the teachers were at their posts of duty. The school year opens under most successful auspices and with every promise that the school year will be useful and profitable.

NO POLITICS ALLOWED

A Socialist Speaker Promptly Suppressed at the Volks Fest.

A man named Shuer from New York attempted to make a socialist speech at the Maennerchor Park yesterday afternoon, but was very quickly hustled off the stand and told that political speeches were not desired at the social gatherings of Middletown Germans. The committee deserves credit for its action and other organizations would do well to follow its example whenever anyone attempts to take advantage of such gatherings of the people of all political opinions to preach his doctrines or bring himself into notoriety.

THREE ATTEMPTS AT SUICIDE

An Orange County Girl, Out of Work, Hungry and Desperate, Tries to Kill Herself in New York.

Stella Corcoran, of Vails Gate, attempted suicide in New York Sunday. She threw herself three times in front of a Third avenue cable car, but each time was dragged from the track unharmed. In police court she said she had lost her situation as a servant, and was hungry and desperate. Her brother, Thomas Corcoran, an Erie Railroad employe, promised to take her home, and she was released.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute [illegible] advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people, have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its preparation the greatest laboratory in the world. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made [illegible] scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cured of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cured of dyspepsia, liver troubles, catarrh—cures which prove

Hood's
Sarsaparilla
Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

BY UNITED PRESS

HARTFORD, Sept. 8.—Bryan will spend three or four days in New England in the latter part of September or early in October.

WEEKS A PRIZE WINNER

He Carries off Two Prizes at Newburgh and One at Catskill.

It is estimated that 5,000 people witnessed the bicycle races in Newburgh on Labor Day. Walter Weeks, of this city, won the third prize, an onyx table, in the two mile handicap and second prize, a gold medal, in the two mile Orange County championship race.

In the latter he was beaten out of first place by one of Joe Donoghue's tricks. Joe had taken a position well out from the pole, and coming up the stretch Weeks attempted to pass on the inside, and when his front wheel was abreast of Joe's pedal the latter swung into the pole and Weeks was forced to back out and take the outside. As it was Joe won only by a wheel.

Mr. Weeks also won third prize, an office chair, in the one mile handicap race at Catskill Saturday.

A New Restaurant.

W. R. Rowley, proprietor of the Palm, has fitted up a handsome restaurant on the second floor of his building, and has employed a New York chef to look after the culinary department. The entire floor has been thrown into one room and with paint, paper and new furnishings it is very handsome.

A room for dinner parties will also be fitted up on the third floor.

The restaurant is entirely separate from the bar room, the entrance from the street being through a hall.

THE VOLKS FEST.

A Trolley Parade—Fine Music, Sports at the Park, Dancing, Feasting and a Good Social Time.

The Volks Fest held, yesterday, under the auspices of the Maennerchor Germania was a most decided success.

It was expected that the Turn Verein of Newburgh and societies from Paterson and Port Jervis would be present to participate in the affair, but they did not come. Our German citizens, however, with a very large number of their friends who are of American or other nationality had a fine time all the same.

After the arrival of the trains on which the visitors were expected the Maennerchor and their German friends marched to the Wickham avenue depot headed by the Carl Sahm Club band, and then boarded electric cars, which had been gorgeously decorated for the occasion, in which they paraded through town and to the park. First came a double-truck car with American and German flags flying and filled with members of the Maennerchor. Attached to this car as a trailer was the large flat car literally covered with bunting, and with large American and German flags crossed and between them a lyre, the emblem of all German musical societies. The car was filled with girls. Following this came another of the large cars well filled and beautifully decorated.

At the park the afternoon was spent in various amusements including singing and dancing. There was a shooting contest in which three gold medals and two diplomas were awarded. The first prize medal was won by Daniel Schmitt, the second by a man whose name we have not learned and the third by August Pfaff. Diplomas were awarded to Paul Purps and Louis Kern.

Clements Heiss was awarded first prize, a medal, for selling the most tickets and H. Thoneman second prize, also a medal.

Speeches were made in the afternoon by Henry Ende and W. C. F. Bastian.

The festivities continued through the evening and were kept up until a late hour.

MT. RETIREMENT ALUMNI.

The Annual Reunion, Yesterday, at the Old Seminary.

The annual reunion and basket picnic of the alumni of Mt. Retirement Seminary was held, yesterday, on the old seminary farm, near Beckertown, N. J. About 200 persons were present and the reunion is pronounced by all the most enjoyable and successful ever held.

After full justice had been done the contents of the well filled lunch baskets, prayer was offered by Leander Talmage, who was an instructor in the seminary forty years ago. Then followed the address by the President, Moses DeWitt, of Newark. Addresses were also made by Joseph Osborne, of Newark, J. Riggs, of Newton, George Lambert, of Newark and Luther Hill, School Commissioner of Sussex county, all former pupils of the Seminary.

Joseph Osborne, of Newark, was elected President and Jas. E. Bennett, of Port Jervis, Secretary and Treasurer.

It was voted to hold the next reunion at the Seminary farm on the first Monday of September.

VOTING ON THE LIQUOR QUESTION

Walton's Special Town Meeting To-day—Ordered by a Supreme Court Judge

The town of Walton will vote to-day on the question of authorizing the sale of liquor. The necessary number of signatures to a petition for a special town meeting were secured several months ago, but the town authorities did not act on the matter, judges not being agreed in their interpretation of the section of the Raines law in regard to holding special town meetings to vote on the liquor question. The petitioners finally procured a mandamus from Judge Lyon and in obedience to it the special election was called.

Walton has been a no-license town for twenty years or more, but at the last town meeting it was carried for license. Though no licenses were issued, the town under the old law it was very far from being dry, but since the Raines law went into effect, it has been a veritable Sahara.

Funeral of Harrison Reed.

Mr. Reed's funeral was held from his late residence, Monday afternoon, at 2 30 o'clock, and was very largely attended. Fifty members of Hoffman Lodge, F. and A. M., were present. The services at the house were conducted by Rev. Luther Littell, of Mt. Hope, assisted by Rev. R. J. Diven, of Otisville.

The services at the grave were in charge of the officers of Hoffman Lodge and the beautiful Masonic burial service was rendered in its entirety by W. M. H. C. Corwin.

The bearers were J. C. Hawkins, H. A. Kingsland, Willis L. Bagley, A. T. Berthoff.

"MADCAP MARY'S" SAD END.

Thrown from Monroe Snavel's Buggy Near Hackensack and Killed.

Monroe Snavel, who was formerly in the hotel business in this city, Mechanictown and Goshen and who is now running the Mansion House in Passaic, N. J., picked up Mary E. Bogart, a pretty divorced woman of Paterson, on the Clifton race track, Friday, and started to ride with her to Hackensack. He allowed the woman to drive and she sent the horse along at full speed. While descending a steep hill, a mile from Hackensack, she drove on a pile of stones in turning a corner and the carriage was upset and both its occupants thrown out. Snavel escaped injury, but Miss Bogart's skull was fractured and she died three hours later in the Hackensack hospital.

Snavel was drunk when the accident occurred. The unfortunate woman, who was known as "Madcap Mary" because of her recklessness, had also been drinking. She was a niece of ex-Sheriff Bogart, of Passaic county.

Snavel has had considerable trouble with the authorities since he became a resident of New Jersey. He was arrested a year ago on a charge of keeping a disorderly house and only a few weeks ago had to give bonds to support the twin children of a woman, who was formerly employed in his hotel.

BILLY MCABE'S MOTOR.

ing finished his smoke and knocked the ashes out of his pipe, he turned the machine half-way round and gave the assembled soldiers an example of its powers. He fired off a few acetylene bombs at the next hill. The British army thought an earthquake had taken place. The hill disappeared in fine dust. The army was appalled to notice that he turned the motor car toward them and went inside. The machine with a roar descended upon them, looking like the Crystal palace on Thursday night, running away with all the fireworks going. Sir Garnet himself on horseback did his best to rally the men. They said they were ready to fight almost anything, but they were not going to stand up to what was evidently a section of the infernal regions let loose, so the army broke and made for cover, while Billy triumphantly tore through the space left by the rapidly-retreating soldiers.

London was sent into a panic by the glaring contents of the evening newspapers, which came out with special editions showing how McCabe had put the British army to rout, and was now tearing his irresistible way down to London while the great city lay defenseless before him. A panic-stricken, threatening crowd surrounded the houses of parliament. Government hastily convened, and Mr. Balfour came to the rescue. He made some pleasant remarks on the success of Mr. Chamberlain's methods in South Africa and other parts of the world, but thought they sometimes did not work as well as they might in an enlightened country like England. He therefore proposed that they should forthwith pass the motor car bill, and then Mr. Billy McCabe would be quite within his rights in his interesting Scottish trips. This way out of the difficulty, which had occurred to nobody else, was received with cheers. Parliament being in session, immediately rushed through the motor car bill about as quickly as McCabe was now coming upon London, and the lords, with equal haste, gave their assent, so that by the time Billy McCabe approached Highgate Hill the motor car bill was law.

Billy was received in London with great acclamation. The lord mayor gave him a banquet at the Mansion house and voluntarily offered to become chairman of the new McCabe Acetylene Motor Car company, capital $125,000,000.—Detroit Free Press.

LINCOLN'S EASY-GOING WAY.

He Would Consent to Be Swindled Rather Than Contest a Fee.

The fee which Lincoln received in the McCormick case, including the retainer, which was $500—the largest retainer ever received by Lincoln—amounted to nearly $2,000. Except the sum paid him by the Illinois Central railroad, it was probably the largest fee he ever received. The two sums came to him about the same time, and undoubtedly helped to tide over the rather unfruitful period, from a financial standpoint, which followed—the period of his contest with Douglass for the senate. Lincoln never made money. From 1850 to 1860 his income averaged from $2,000 to $3,000 a year. In the forties it was considerably less. The fee book of Lincoln & Herndon for 1874 shows total earnings of only $1,500. The largest fee entered was one of $100. There are several of $50, a number of $20, more of $10, still more of $5, and a few of $3.

If a fee was not paid Lincoln did not believe in suing for it. Mr. Herndon says he would consent to be swindled before he would contest a fee. The case of the Illinois Central railroad, however, was an exception to this rule. He was careless in accounts, never entering anything on the book. When a fee was paid to him he simply divided the money into two parts, one of which he put into his pocket, and the other into an envelope, which he labeled "Herndon's half." Lincoln's whole theory of the conduct of a lawyer in regard to money is summed up in the "notes" for a law lecture which he left among his papers.

"The matter of fees is important far beyond the question of mere bread and butter involved. Properly attended to, fuller justice is done to both lawyer and client. An exorbitant fee should never be claimed. As a general rule, never take your whole fee in advance, nor any more than a small retainer. When fully paid beforehand, you are more than a common mortal if you can feel the same interest in the case as if something was still in prospect for you as well as for your client. And when you lack interest in the case the job will very likely lack skill and diligence in the performance. Settle the amount of fee and take a note in advance. Then you will feel that you are working for something, and you are sure to do your work faithfully and well. Never sell a fee note, at least not before the consideration service is performed. It leads to negligence and dishonesty, negligence by losing interest in the case, and dishonesty by refusing to refund when you have allowed the consideration to fail." Ida M. Tarbell, in McClure's Magazine.

Too Much for Him.

A doctor once refused to take a fee for services rendered a friend during a dangerous illness. Upon his recovery, however, the patient presented the requisite amount in a purse, saying: "Sir, at the time I have put every day's fee, and your goodness must not get the better of my gratitude." The doctor eyed the purse, counted the number of days, and, holding out his hand, replied: "Well, I can hold out no longer, singly, I could have refused them for a year, but collectively they are irresistible."—N. Y. Ledger.

—According to Mulhall, there are in the United States 260,100 miles of public highway.

of all cases of consumption can, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease, be cured. This may seem like a bold assertion to those familiar only with the means generally in use for its treatment; as, nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy emulsions, extract of malt, whiskey, different preparations of hypophosphites and such like palliatives.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent. are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery" but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a great Family Doctor Book of 1000 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and 21 cents in stamps, to cover postage and wrapping only.

SHOES WITHOUT NAILS.

Invention That Is Expected to Be a Boon to Horses.

Horses need no longer go to bed with their shoes on. A man who believes that a good horse should be treated just as kindly as a good man has invented a horseshoe which is adjusted to the animal's foot without nails.

The shoes are put on and removed at the pleasure of the owner, and the horses upon which they have been tried seem to exhibit a great appreciation of them, doing their work better and in a number of ways indicating that life is more satisfactory without a hoof full of nails. This shoe is drawn over the hoof and buckled on, no nails being driven anywhere into the foot for any purpose. If the inventor, who is an experienced horseman, is correct, the unfortunate animal has been for centuries rewarded for his faithful service to man by the most exquisite torture.

The part of the new shoe which rests upon the ground resembles an ordinary horseshoe, being of the same shape and material. A hinge in front permits it to be spread apart in adjusting to the hoof, in order to allow the frog to perform its natural office of a heel. A plate covers the entire bottom of the foot, so that the animal stands flatly upon a smooth surface, the frog sustaining part of the weight and forming a cushion to lessen the jar to the equine anatomy. Sometimes a small pad of leather or rubber is placed between the shoe and the foot for the same purpose. The "upper" is of leather, provided with strap and buckle, simply for holding the whole arrangement in place.

With a set of these iron and leather "brogans" upon his feet, the wearer is protected, as the inventor says, from all the troubles of horseflesh caused by cobblestones and inequalities in the road.

JOSEPH F. JOHNSTON.

The Free-Silver Democrat Just Elected Governor of Alabama.

Capt. Joseph Forney Johnston, who has been elected governor of Alabama, was born in Lincoln county, N. C., in 1843. His father was a North Carolina planter of the old school. In his 17th year Capt. Johnston gave up his educational advantages to enlist in the confederate army as a private. He received five wounds and was promoted to a captaincy for gallantry. Shortly after the war he came to Alabama and settled in Selma, where he formed a law partnership with his former comrade in arms, Capt. R. M. Nelson. Afterwards the two engaged in banking, and when Birmingham sprang up some 15 years ago Capt. Johnston cast his fortunes here, where he soon afterwards became president of the Sloss Iron and Steel company, the pioneer iron-making corporation of this district. Later he was elected president of the Alabama national bank, which position he held up to about three years ago, when he voluntarily retired.

Capt. Johnston has always been an active democratic leader in this state.

CAPT. JOSEPH F. JOHNSTON.

He served just after the reconstruction period as state democratic chairman for several years, and rendered the party splendid service. He was candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1890, but was defeated. Gov. Oates defeated Capt. Johnston for the nomination in 1894, but this year Johnston defeated Congressman Clarke, "sound money" candidate, by a large majority, and was nominated on the first ballot. Capt. Johnston has been most successful as a business man, and has amassed a snug fortune. He is one of the best stump speakers in the state. He is a free silver advocate.

Immense Chunk of Silver.

In a popular history of America published many years ago an account is given of the discovery of a silver mine in Peru by an Indian, who, while chasing game in the mountains, seized a shrub for support, and the shrub, coming loose in his hands, revealed glittering masses of silver clinging to its roots. This story is recalled by the recent discovery in Pinal county, A. T., of a nugget of native silver which had been washed and worn by water no one knows how long, but which still weighs 448 troy ounces. It is of an oval form, and its surface is so marked as to indicate that it consists of crystals of silver formed in strings, and afterward compacted into a mass. The nugget has been placed in the National museum in Washington.

Losing Flesh

You naturally lose flesh in the summer and running down is so easy. You get a little weaker each day without hardly noticing it. There is loss of appetite, headache, weakness of the muscles, disturbed sleep, weakness of memory, and these are the beginning of nervous prostration. Iron and tonics and bitters may afford some temporary relief, but what you need is a food for body, brain and nerves.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with the Hypophosphites, furnishes just the nourishment needed for those who are run down and pale and thin and weak. If you lose flesh in summer take Scott's Emulsion now. Don't wait till fall or winter before beginning.

KING OF SLUGGERS.

Tom Sharkey Is the Latest Hero of Prize-Fight Enthusiasts.

Few boxers have attained an international reputation as rapidly as Thomas Sharkey, ex-champion of the United States navy. Prior to the night he had a brief set-to with James J. Corbett he was practically unknown, excepting to the few who follow the fistic game with regularity. He went on the stage with Corbett that night with all the confidence possible in a man in his position and justified all the good things his friends had said about him by more than holding his own with the man who was thought to have only one or two rivals for the championship of the world.

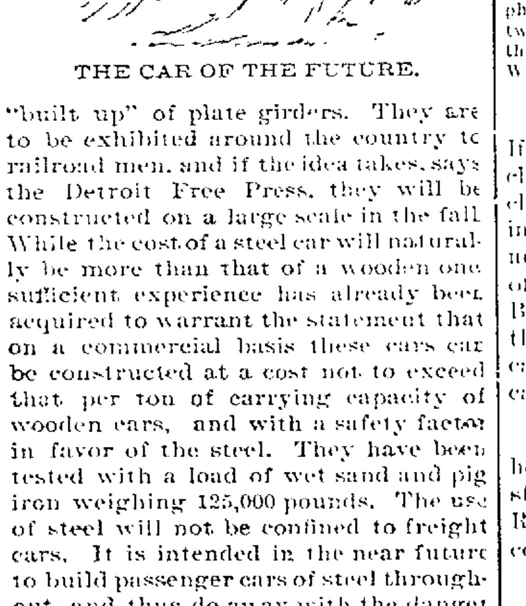

THOMAS SHARKEY.

When the sailor boy woke the next morning he found himself a noted character. He had performed what many thought a remarkable feat, and was so lauded for his deed that Corbett was practically forced to make a match to fight him to a finish for the championship and $10,000 a side. Whether Corbett has the right to compete for the title is questioned by many, but that does not enter into the argument so far as Sharkey is concerned. He thinks he is the best man in the world, and is anxious to prove it. He may be given the opportunity before the first day of next year. The ex-marine is not a particularly handsome man, but he has all the earmarks of a great athlete. Many will think it was a bad thing for him to come before the people so suddenly, arguing the tendency to become inflated with his own importance. But those who know Sharkey will not think so. There is nothing at all boastful about him, nor does he impress one with being in the least susceptible to flattery. His great breadth of shoulders and thus rapid manner of moving are the principal things that attract an onlooker to him. He is a young Irishman, and early in life learned blacksmithing. After he had served his apprenticeship a love for the sea asserted itself and he shipped in the British merchant service. He liked America too well to stay on the other side long, and soon became one of Uncle Sam's sailors. He served three years on the ship Independence and was honorably discharged at the expiration of that time. During his service he won the championship of the navy a number of times. The ship he was with was stationed in Honolulu for some months and fondness for boxing was encouraged among the seamen by the officers. There it was that Sharkey first became known as a fighter. He is 24 years old.

STEEL RAILWAY CARS.

Another Progressive Step in Modern Railroad Equipment.

At last steel cars have been made. For years they have been regarded as the coming car, but owing to the high price of steel they were not thought to be economically possible until the twentieth century. A great steel company, in order to show under the present conditions the possibilities of steel in this direction, has constructed two cars of this material which are the first to their kind. As the picture shows they are of simple construction, being

THE CAR OF THE FUTURE.

"built up" of plate girders. They are to be exhibited around the country to railroad men, and if the idea takes, says the Detroit Free Press, they will be constructed on a large scale in the fall. While the cost of a steel car will naturally be more than that of a wooden one sufficient experience has already been acquired to warrant the statement that on a commercial basis these cars can be constructed at a cost not to exceed that per ton of carrying capacity of wooden cars, and with a safety factor in favor of the steel. They have been tested with a load of wet sand and pig iron weighing 125,000 pounds. The use of steel will not be confined to freight cars. It is intended in the near future to build passenger cars of steel throughout, and thus do away with the danger of splintering in railroad collisions.

ON THE GREEN DIAMOND.

Printers Win and Three A's Lose in Ellenville—Asylum Reserves Too Much for Goshen—Ontarios No Match for the Meccas.

The Middletown printers journed to Ellenville, yesterday, at the invitation of the typos of that village and in the morning defeated them in a game of ball by the score of 9 to 7. "Rio" Malone was in the box for the Middletown aggregation and he had the Ellenville printers at his mercy in every inning but the eighth, when the home players scored five runs. The other players were Curran, c.; Kane, 1b.; Crist 2b.; Bradley, ss.; Brown, 3b.; Devore, lf.; Owen, cf.; Sweezy, rf. The visitors were entertained at dinner at the Terwilliger House by their Ellenville brethren.

The Three A's, of this city, played the Ellenville team in the afternoon, but were not so fortunate as the printers. They were defeated by a score of 16 to 14, in a very interesting game.

The Asylum Reserve team had a very easy time defeating the Goshens on the Hospital grounds, yesterday. The opposing pitchers were C. Landy for Goshen and Jack Farrell for the Asylums. The game was slow and uninteresting and was won by the Asylums by the score of 14 to 5. A small crowd was present.

The Ontarios suffered two defeats at Liberty, yesterday, at the hands of the Meccas. In the morning game they were beaten 16 to 2 and in the afternoon 20 to 8.

The Sidney team has disbanded for the season and Pete Agnew, who has been playing with team, has gone to Sayre, Pa., where he has a short engagement.

Tierney, who played with the Cooperstown club this season, has returned to his home in Goshen.

Mrs. George St. John's Class in Vocal Culture.

Mrs. George St. John, of Port Jervis, who very successfully conducted a large class in vocal culture in this city, last season, will resume her work here Sept. 15th, at the Casino parlors. Pupils from Goshen and the surrounding country are solicited for the autumn and winter classes. Mrs. St. John is a most accomplished musician and a very superior teacher and many of her pupils have distinguished themselves as singers. Those desiring to join the class should address Mrs. St. John at Port Jervis.

The Schultz Family Picnic.

In our report of the annual picnic of the Schultz family, held at Midway Park, last week, we unintentionally omitted from the list of members of the family present the following: Mrs. James R. Schultz and children, Geo. H. and his family, Wesley, Annie and Minnie, of Westtown. Mrs. Schultz is a sister of Mrs. Margaret Coleman, of Athens, and Mrs. William Seely, of Greenville, and these sisters are the oldest members of the family. James R. Schultz died in 1857.

Many Hunters—Getting Better—Personal Notes.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—A great number of hunters visit this place looking for woodcock, along the Wallkill.

—L. Goldsmith, who has been laid up with sickness for the past week, we are pleased to say, is around again.

—S. H. Johnson and wife spent last week driving through Sullivan county calling on friends and relatives.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Miller, of Middletown and Miss Lizzie Burns, of Boonton, N. J., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Phillips.

—Andrew Evans returned, Saturday, from a business trip through Delaware county.

—Walter Fitzpatrick, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with Robt. W. Crans.

When your stomach begins to trouble you it needs help. The help it needs is to get a good cook, and, until it gets it, you won't have any peace. Stomach troubles are very distressing, very obstinate, very dangerous. Many of the most dangerous diseases can be traced to simple indigestion. The reason is that indigestion itself destroys nutriment and weakens the system and allows disease germs to attack it. The antidote is Shaker Digestive Cordial, strengthening nerve-bracing creative. It cures indigestion and restores strength and health. It does this by strengthening the stomach, by helping it to digest your food. It nourishes you. Shaker Digestive Cordial is made of pure herbs, plants and wine, is perfectly harmless and will certainly cure all genuine stomach trouble. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

WAWAYANDA.

A Big Crop of Chestnuts Probable—Crowds of Bicyclists—The Big Apple Crop—The Welcome Rain—Where Are the Stinging Insects?—A Graceful Equestrienne.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Not in many years have the chestnut trees borne as many burrs as this year, and if the burrs are an index of the coming crop an enormous yield of nuts will nearly glut the market and prices will be very low.

—Scores of bicycle riders, both male and female, seem to enjoy themselves in a pleasurable manner as they daily scoot along Wawayanda avenue.

—Apples are such an abundant crop, this year, that farmers having orchards are puzzled to know what to do with their fruit. The market for summer fruit is so clogged that the price is merely nominal, and winter apples will also be cheap, and a foreign market is yet uncertain. Distillers offer but little encouragement to the farmer to pick up windfalls on account of the old stock of liquor they have already on hand, the sale for which is slow. Thousands of bushels of apples are likely to rot and waste away under the trees.

—Whoever saw a more prolific growth of ragweed than there has been this year? Where does the seed come from to produce such a rank crop as is spread out everywhere?

—The ground has been too dry to plow for winter grain and springs, streams and wells were extremely low, but Saturday night's heavy rain gave the parched earth a sadly needed soaking.

—For three successive years there have been very few nests of stinging insects such as wasps, hornets, yellow jackets and bumble bees. Can any one give a reason.

—Middletown has many graceful wheelwomen, but there is a young lady in Slate Hill, who bears off the palm for graceful horsewomanship. It is a real delight to see her on her horse which she sits so perfectly and so confidently.

EMIR OF BOKHARA.

Bows Gracefully to the Will of the Russian Government.

The emir of Bokhara is one of the most cautious and calculating of orientals, who knows how to bow gracefully to the inevitable and to take credit to himself for not battering his own venerable head against a granite wall. I remember a striking incident that characterizes his practical philosophy and his inborn sagacity.

Some time ago the finance minister, M. Witte, determined to erect a custom house in Bokhara, and to levy duties on all products and manufactures entering into the country. It was generally believed that this innovation would displease the emir, who erroneously supposed that the proceeds of the customs would go to fill the Russian exchequer. The finance minister, therefore, called upon him with a number of statistical documents and official returns, a careful study of which would, he thought, convince the emir of the advantages of the measure, but that careful study never took place. The minister began the conversation by asking whether he was aware of the nature of the proposed change. The emir said he was. "It is in your own interest," remarked the finance minister, "as you can convince yourself from these documents." But the oriental prince merely asked: "Is this being done with the knowledge and consent of his majesty the czar?" "Undoubtedly it is," replied M. Witte. "Then his majesty's will be done," exclaimed the Asiatic potentate, and the conference came to a sudden and satisfactory end.

The emir has made strenuous and persevering efforts to introduce Russian civilization into his domains, and it may be gratifying to him in this respect that his subjects of to-day compare most favorably with their barbaric fathers. This is one of the reasons why he is liked and honored in Russia. He is a very wealthy man, with simple tastes and a passionate love of that species of hopping which in England is reserved for the ladies. His food differs in no wise from that of his suite, and one of the ever-recurring dishes consists of cake fried in the fat of rams, and known in the vernacular as pavanitshi, which would give Pantagruel himself a fit of indigestion. The emir knows the cost of every quality of silk, calico, chintz and cotton stuff in every city of Russia, and he haggles for a long time over a farthing in the price of the yard. He never visits that country without purchasing large quantities of these stuffs, which he, in his capacity as monarch, can take home duty free. Then he sells them at a considerable profit to his native merchants, who enjoy no such privileges. No man is more careful of his money than the prince of Bokhara, and yet on occasion he can be as generous as the most prodigal. London Telegraph.

HER HAPPY DAY.

A Charming Story of Medicine and Marriage.

Two Open Letters From a Chicago Girl —How Happiness Came to Her.

Among the tens of thousands of women who apply to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and are cured, are many who wish the facts in their cases made public, but do not give permission to publish their names for reasons as obvious as in the following, and no name is ever published without the writer's authority; this is a bond of faith which Mrs. Pinkham has never broken.

Chicago, Jan. 5th, '95.
My dear Mrs. Pinkham:—A friend of mine, Mrs. ——, wants me to write you, because she says: "you did her so much good." I am desperate. Am nineteen years of age, tall, and weighed 138 pounds a year ago. I am now a mere skeleton. From your little book I think my trouble is profuse menstruation. My symptoms are * * * * etc.
Our doctor (my uncle) tells father that I am in consumption, and wants to take me to Florida. Please help me! Tell me what to do, and tell me quickly. I am engaged to be married in September. Shall I live to see the day? * * * *
LUCY E. W.

Chicago, June 16th, '95.
My dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
This is a happy day. I am well and gaining weight daily, but shall continue the treatment and Vegetable Compound during the summer, as you suggest. Uncle knows nothing about what you have done for me, because it would make things very unpleasant in the family. I would like to give you a testimonial to publish, but father would not allow it. * * * * I shall be married in September, and as we go to Boston, will call upon you. How can I prove my gratitude? * * * *
LUCY E. W.

Just such cases as the above leak out in women's circles, and that is why the confidence of the women of America is bestowed upon Mrs. Pinkham.

Why are not physicians more candid with women when suffering from such ailments?

Women want the truth, and if they cannot get it from their doctor, will seek it elsewhere.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
Office of the Secretary of State,

ALBANY, August 1, 1896.

Pursuant to the provisions of section seven, chapter nine hundred and nine, Laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-six, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to section seven, article seven of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people of said State, for the purpose of voting thereon at the next general election in this State, to be held on the third day of November eighteen hundred and ninety-six.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION SEVEN OF ARTICLE SEVEN OF THE CONSTITUTION, RELATING TO THE FOREST PRESERVE.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That section seven of article seven of the constitution be amended, so as to read as follows:

§ 7. The lands of the State, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as forest lands. Except as authorized by this section, they shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken or occupied by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. The Legislature may authorize the sale of such lands as it may by law describe, not more than two acres of land in the forest preserve to any one person for camp and cottage purposes. The Legislature may also authorize the exchange of lands owned by the State, outside the forest preserve, for lands not owned by the State situate within the forest preserve. The Legislature may also authorize the sale of lands belonging to the State outside the forest preserve, but the moneys so obtained shall not be used except for the purchase of lands situate within the forest preserve, and which, when so purchased, shall become a part of the forest preserve.

2. Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That the foregoing amendment be referred to the Legislature to be chosen at the next general election of Senators and that in conformity to section five, article fourteen of the constitution, to be published for three months previous to the time of such election.
